Printers Turn Down Strike Ending Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking printers voted Sunday to turn down contract terms accepted by their leaders and to continue a strike that has shut down eight New York City newspapers for 100 days.

The vote to reject was a close 1,621 to 1,557. A scant 64 votes created the massive stumbling block to a settlement of the prolonged labor dispute.

The vote raised the possibility that the Executive Council of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union might submit the issue to a referendum of the entire membership of ITU Local 6, including commercial printers in the New York area as well as newspaper printers.

The vote came after a stormy meeting at which the members loudly expressed the split in their ranks. The mood to reject was very much in evidence as the printers' board officers urged acceptance—including the ITU international president, Elmer Brown — and cheered speakers who called the proposed terms inadequate.

The speakers opposing the terms indicated dissatisfaction that a reduction in the work week from 36½ to 35 hours would not come until the second year of the contract, and they regarded as inadequate the two additional days of paid sick leave.

Express Disappointment

The opponents also expressed disappointment at the failure of the negotiators to obtain a fourth week of vacation after one year, a proposal they said would provide additional job opportunities.

The terms had been proposed by Mayor Robert F. Wagner, the mediator who has tried to bring about agreement between the union and the Publishers Association of New York.

Brown, who had come here from union headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo., to join in the talks between printers and publishers representatives, had been strongly in favor of accepting the proposal.

Bertram A. Powers, the leader of the New York ITU local who had agreed to the proposed terms with undisguised reluctance, had urged the membership to accept. He admitted he was not satisfied with the contract, but he added: "There has never been a contract to satisfy me."

The sole dissenting member of the local's seven-man negotiating team—Bernard Douthett — received prolonged applause from the gathering when he spoke out against the proposal and criticized the international officer of the union for "hitting us with everything but their shoes" to accept the mayor's recommendations.

Arm Red Planes With New Missile

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio says the Soviet Union has strategic intercontinental bombers fitted with air-to-ground missiles capable of striking any point on the globe.

A Moscow radio correspondent made the assertion in reporting a trip aboard one of the bombers, which he called practically invulnerable to anti-aircraft defenses.

His account of the flight—broadcast by Moscow radio Wednesday in the English language to North America—quoted the plane's captain as saying: "The air-to-ground missile we are flying can be delivered to any part of the globe. The radius of our missile is great."

"We don't have to come over our target, in fact we never come any closer than a few hundred miles."

"This is why it is practically impossible for the enemy to hit us with his anti-aircraft defenses. The missile is also invulnerable. Its speed and (ceiling) make sure of it."

Reopen Steel Pact?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union's executive board meets in Philadelphia Monday and may provide a hint as to whether the union will reopen its contract with the steel industry after April 30.

The union can reopen its two-year contract with major producers any time after April 30, with a right to strike 90 days later.

The executive board reportedly will hear committee reports on which demands in any new contract negotiated would be based. The board also will hear reports from the joint human relations committee.

Industry and Union officials were in town Saturday night for a dinner honoring David J. McDonald, president of the USW.

In Washington, Defense Department sources said the fact that the Soviet Union has some sort of air-launched missile has been known for some time.

Hound Dog

The United States has one operational air-to-surface missile with nuclear capabilities. It is the Hound Dog, a turbojet air-breathing missile with a range of around 600 miles. Great Britain also uses the Hound Dog.

The Soviet correspondent's use of the term "a few hundred miles" as the plane's distance from target suggested to Washington sources that the Soviet missile probably has a range on the order of the Hound Dog.

The combined ranges of bombers and the Hound Dog would give the United States the same sort of strike-anywhere capability, in theory, at least, that the Russians are claiming.

The United States at one time planned to develop the Skybolt, a true ballistic missile, as its chief air-to-surface weapon. Skybolt would have had a range of around 1,200 miles.

The Skybolt project was shelved, however, when it was decided that it would not add enough to the over-all U.S. nuclear strike capabilities to justify the great cost of completing its development and putting it into production.

Claim Bull's Eye

The correspondent said one of the missiles was fired from the plane while he was aboard. It was picked up on the aircraft's radar screen as it sped on its way and the crew of the bomber claimed a bull's eye.

The writer described the plane as "a silvery, streamlined craft with a sharply turned-up tail. The missile itself was slung underneath the bomber's belly; it too resembled a small aircraft. Like a fighter it had wings and tail."

Bidault Has New Problems

STEINEBACH, Germany (AP) — Georges Bidault ran into a religious complication Sunday in his quest for political asylum in West Germany.

A German aide said the French underground foe of President Charles de Gaulle passed up Mass in a Roman Catholic church here at the request of two priests.

Later a priest, the Rev. Elmar Schmitzer, visited Bidault's villa and held a private, 20-minute prayer service with the Roman Catholic former premier, who heads the political wing of the rightist Secret Army Organization.

Gave Details

A German aide of the Frenchman gave these details about the suggestion that he stay away from the church: The two priests visited Bidault at his villa. They said they feared his attendance—of necessity with the Bavarian police escort assigned to protect him—would stir up so much excitement the service would be disturbed. They proposed, instead, to conduct a private Mass for Bidault and his secret Mass.

Bidault agreed to stay away from the Sunday service. It was not established whether he would take up the offer of a private Mass on Monday.

Still awaiting a decision by Bavarian state authorities on his request for a residence permit that would assure him refuge, Bidault is staying on in the villa of a Dutch-born newspaper feature writer, Heinz Van Noubuy, where police found him a week ago.

A warrant issued in Paris last August accused Bidault of plotting against the French state. He wants to remain in West Germany, but does not want to give up his anti-Gaullist political activity.

Castro Releases Prisoners

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two American women, prisoners in Cuban jails since 1960, returned to their homeland Sunday and some 20 other U.S. prisoners are expected within six weeks.

James B. Donovan, New York attorney who negotiated for the prisoners' release, said freedom for the other Americans depended on the speed with which Prime Minister Fidel Castro receives the $53-million Cuban invasion prisoner ransom.

He said he thought there were about 35 other prisoners but that Castro did not consider all of them Americans.

About half of the ransom supplies—medicine and baby foods—have been received by the Cubans, Donovan said.

Donovan also said that he hoped for the early release of nine skin divers arrested recently by Cubans. The nine Americans said they were fishermen en route to the Dominican Republic.

"I expect within a few weeks by simply providing a few basic corroborating materials showing they were actually shipwrecked and washed ashore, they will be freed," Donovan said at a news conference.

The Two Women

The two women, Geraldine Shamma, in her 30s, a native of Boston, and Martha O'Neal, whose parents live in Orlando, Fla., talked to reporters after they checked through immigration.

Both looked tired but appeared to be in good physical condition. Neither knew until 11 a.m. Sunday that she was to be freed.

"The first thing I'm going to have is a hot dog," Mrs. O'Neal said.

The women had been charged with counterrevolutionary activity and had been sentenced to 10 years.

Donovan said there were no strings attached to the release of the two women Sunday.

Mrs. Shamma, a white-haired, stocky woman wearing dark glasses, was asked her age. She replied, "Don't make me feel any worse than I do."

She said she was arrested Nov. 4, 1960, at her home. She said her husband died in 1950. She said six Cuban intelligence soldiers took her to headquarters and that she didn't learn until later she was accused of counterrevolutionary activity. She declined to give the specific charge against her.

Mrs. O'Neal appeared near the verge of tears during part of her interview but later brightened.

She said she was arrested Dec. 15, 1960 when Castro agents seized her at a friend's house. She said the charge against her had something to do with frequent trips she had made between the United States and Cuba. She did not go into detail.

Mrs. Shamma said they were taken from prison and placed on a bus but were not told anything.

Donovan Visited Prisoners

Donovan disclosed he had visited 17 native American prisoners at the Isle of Pines prison and four at La-Cabana near Havana. He said the condition of the inmates "materially improved" after the first ransom medicines were received in Cuba 2½ months ago.

He said they are now together in a compound and are without supplies such as coffee, cigarettes and bathroom tissue but that he provided them with some.

He said he talked with the skin divers Saturday night for three hours, at Castro's invitation.

"Castro told me they had been without counsel for six weeks and if I wanted to, he would give me the opportunity to prove them innocent," Donovan said. He said he would work on their case in New York before returning to Havana.

Donovan declined to state the terms involved in the freeing of the U.S. prisoners. He said the basis was entirely different from the ransom of the Bay of Pigs prisoners. There has been speculation that freedom for Cuban prisoners in the United States might be a stipulation.

However, Donovan said the timetable for release of the Americans was tied to completion of the shipment of the ransom goods, which have already been gathered. Only transportation is needed, he said.

Facio Predicts Downfall Of Communism In Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of Latin America's top spokesmen predicted Sunday that President Kennedy and the Central American states this week will force a combined policy to topple communism in Cuba—an island he pictured as ripe for revolt and sabotage.

Gonzalo J. Facio, Costa Rica's ambassador and chairman of the council of the Organization of American States, said the common approach will be adopted at the three-day conference opening in San Jose, Costa Rica, on Monday.

TV Interview

Facio, interviewed on television said the conference probably will recommend sanctions under the Rio Treaty. These could include, he said, breaking of diplomatic and economic relations and use of force.

"But I don't foresee that we will recommend in this stage to use force," he added quickly.

Facio, emphasizing he was expressing only his personal views, called Cuba a threat, focus of aggression and a source of subversion of the rest of Latin America that must be removed.

"I think the military forces in Cuba are fed up with (Fidel) Castro and will be very glad to take any part in aggression to overthrow Castro if they were given assistance," Facio said.

He said he formed this opinion from information obtained from sources both within and outside Cuba. He claimed the situation is considerably different from that at the time of the ill-fated 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion. Then, he said, "conditions were not ripe."

Facio said a lot of things can be done to capitalize on this situation.

"For instance, the sabotage of oil deposits in Cuba," he said. "They have to have oil. They cannot move anything (without imported oil). They have a concentration of oil in the harbor that could be sabotaged and the Cubans are ready to do it, and they are ready to die in that respect if they receive the proper assistance to do it."

Facio said it isn't the policy of the Organization of American States to advocate the overthrow of Castro or sabotaging of his economy, but he personally feels this should be done and the United States should underwrite such efforts providing its worldwide confrontation with the Soviet Union permits it.

Asked if a combined policy aimed at Cuba would emerge from the San Jose conference, Facio said: "I hope so. I am not only optimistic, but very sure that the combined policy will come out."

"It will probably express our common concern for this subversion that comes out from Cuba, and we will probably recommend that the area states take measures in applying the Rio Treaty to confront this aggression."

Coal Stabbed Like Caesar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Saylor, R-Pa., says that U.S. coal interests, like Julius Caesar in ancient Rome, were betrayed in the Ides of March.

Saylor said the government picked mid-March to announce an increase in residual oil import quotas. He said the quota increase was a betrayal of U.S. coal interests.

Caesar was stabbed by a trusted friend March 15 — the Ides of March—the day the oil quota was raised.

Lenten Meditation

By Rev. Frank W. Wingerter
East Stroudsburg
Presbyterian Church

IN THIS holy season, the Church concentrates on reviewing the last week of our Lord's momentous life. When we seriously reflect upon these moving incidents He assists us in developing the best that is in us.

It is interesting to watch the development of science in this wonderful Atomic Age. But the growth of the soul must keep pace with that of science or we may use our discoveries to destroy civilization rather than to destroy disease and other social discomforts. Above everything, it is necessary to develop the soul. This can be done if each citizen will concentrate and imitate the love of the Cross.

During the years following the last World War millions of Christians have sacrificed billions of dollars during Lent for the hungry, homeless and hopeless people who are near to us and for those in the four corners of the earth. The situation is as critical today. The Spirit of the Cross will work through God's people again in this sacred season. This is the type of love that develops the soul and saves us personally and collectively.

We are well into Lent. Let each of us try to live closer to the Lord of the Cross. No one can tell. We may make a habit of it and persist after Easter.

Kennedy Confers With Sec. Rusk Prior To Leaving For Costa Rica

Both Men Will Join In The Talks

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk met for nearly half an hour with President Kennedy Sunday before both men go to Costa Rica on Monday for important talks with six Latin American presidents.

Kennedy cut short an afternoon cruise on Lake Worth to return to his borrowed oceanfront home to prepare for a session with Rusk and other key advisers on Latin America.

These developments coincided with the eruption of a potentially difficult dispute with Brazil over a State Department assertion that Communists have infiltrated the Brazilian government.

While Brazil will not be a participant in Kennedy's Monday-through-Wednesday talks in Costa Rica, the flare-up obviously came at an inopportune time so far as U.S. plans are concerned.

Rusk, however, expressed optimism that the difficulties with Brazil would be handled satisfactorily.

Fly To San Jose

Kennedy and Rusk will fly to San Jose, Costa Rica, early Monday morning for conferences with the presidents of Panama and the five Central American republics — Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and Nicaragua.

The United States hopes to win support from the six nations for curbing the exportation of communism from Cuba to the rest of the hemisphere.

In addition, Kennedy and Rusk will hear about Panamanian and Central American plans to advance the Alliance for Progress program. This is expected to involve appeals for new U.S. financial support.

In a Washington interview Sunday, Gonzalo J. Facio, Costa Rican ambassador and chairman of the council of the Organization of American States, predicted the San Jose meeting will produce an agreement on toppling Cuban communism. He added his belief Cuba is ripe for revolt.

Facio predicted diplomatic and economic sanctions would be agreed to and the use of force endorsed if that becomes necessary although he said he does not think force will be resorted to at present.

Cold War

The Chinese suggested the meeting between Khrushchev and Chinese Communist chief Mao Tse-tung as a step toward settling the deep Moscow-Peking differences over Communist ideology and strategy in the cold war.

Much as Khrushchev may want to heal this sap on Communist world strength, Western quarters here feel he was embarrassed by the Chinese invitation and would suffer an enormous loss of prestige if he went to Peking.

Khrushchev may agree to the opening of bilateral talks at a lower level, but such meetings rarely produce decisions of major importance. The Communists like to do business at a high level.

The Chinese since last year have demanded a general meeting of all world Communist parties to air their grievances. The Russians have refused to call such a meeting—presumably for fear it would lead to an open split in the world movement.

Last January, Khrushchev suggested a cooling-off period with no public polemics before a general conference. But the Soviet leader gave way a short time later and offered to hold bilateral talks with the Chinese.

Chinese Attacks

In the meantime, however, the Chinese unleashed a torrent of propaganda attacks on the Russians and Moscow implied, even called for the overthrow of Khrushchev and other Kremlin leaders.

Despite the Chinese attacks, however, Khrushchev, in a letter dated Feb. 21, repeated his offer of two-party talks, presumably with the understanding that the Chinese agree to his earlier conditions.

The Chinese reply, inviting Khrushchev to Peking, was published here last Wednesday.

Some fluttered into the streets from the fifth story of a department store. Police rushed to the store and, searching Sunday shoppers as they emerged, arrested one youth.

There was other criticism too of the decision by Park, chief of the military junta, to suppress political campaigning and call a referendum to decide whether his regime should be extended four years or give way to a civilian administration he originally promised would be set up next summer.

Two men who had been considered strong candidates for the presidency were quick to condemn Park's move.

Former President Yun Po-sun, who had Civil Rule party backing, said Park buried "the democracy which had just begun budding."

Ex-Premier Huh Chung, who had been farming the Fresh Politics party, said Park's announcement was "a major tragedy to the Korean people."

Park's plan generally was interpreted as a device to prolong his hold on the country.

There was a feeling in Seoul that friction with the United States may follow.

County Democrats Urge Registration

THE MONROE County Democratic Committee met last Friday evening at the Stroud Township Municipal Building as part of the current drive to register voters for the upcoming Primary Elections.

Over 100 persons attending the meeting heard reports from W. C. G. Peterson, Monroe County Democratic Chairman, and Stuart Pipher, chairman of the Democratic Registration Committee on the registration campaign within the county.

Peterson, pointing out that there are several thousand unregistered, but otherwise qualified, voters in Monroe County, stated, "It is the obligation of all citizens who can do so to vote, and it is our duty — the duty of all Americans — to urge our fellow citizens to register so that they will be eligible to vote. It is true that the Democratic Party seeks to attract the newly registered voter, but it seeks more than that."

"President Kennedy has said, 'As new problems arise, or as new light is shed on old problems, we will need new ideas and new programs.' The Democratic Party realizes that we will be able to meet the challenges of the future only if we insure that all Americans exercise their right and privilege to vote."

Pipher, whose committee includes Mrs. Grace Palmer, Mrs. Lillian Price and Donald DePue, reported that the Democratic Party was ahead in registering new voters during the current drive. He pointed out that the last day to register for the primary elections was April 1, and that all persons who will be 21 years of age on or before May 22, 1963 were eligible to register now.

Others who should register now in order to guarantee their right to vote, Pipher stated, were all qualified citizens not now registered; women voters who have married and changed their names; all persons who have failed to vote within the past two years, and newly naturalized citizens.

Anyone who has moved from one election district to another within the county should sign a change of address card. All others who have moved must re-register.

He made clear that anyone who has moved from one district to another election district within the county within 60 days of the election could vote in his former district.

Pipher said, "I urge anyone with a registration problem to call me or any member of the registration committee, and we will be glad to help you, including arranging transportation. Furthermore, I urge all registered voters to join with us to register at least one new voter, for if we did there wouldn't be a single unregistered voter in Monroe County."

Peterson also introduced several candidates for Democratic nomination in the forthcoming Primary Elections on May 21. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Rep Van D. Yetter

Van D. Yetter Named On Wheat Group

VAN D. Yetter, East Stroudsburg RD 2, state Democratic representative, will represent wheat referendum committees in East Central Pennsylvania.

He will help organize county committees and will arrange meetings to disseminate information about the referendum.

The Pennsylvania State Wheat Referendum Committee is now in the process of organizing County Wheat Referendum Committees in all counties of Pennsylvania.

Farmers selected to serve on the various County Committees will be prominent citizens within their community and whose primary interest will be that of disseminating information to neighboring farmers concerning the referendum.

It will be Yetter's responsibility to help organize county committees and arrange for the conduct of informational meetings to disseminate information concerning the referendum.

It is the basic objective of these citizen committees to be sure that all farmers are properly and adequately informed as to the factors to be considered in casting a ballot in the 1964 Wheat Referendum.

Japan Shows Import Excess

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's trade in February registered an import excess of $100,353,000, the government announced yesterday.

Though exports maintained a high level at $402,778,000, imports came to $503,131,000 due mainly to an increased purchase of foodstuffs, cotton and wool.

Scientist Says JFK Is Missing A 'Cosmic Bet'

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy — beset by such problems as Khrushchev, Castro and the reluctance of many Americans to take a tax cut — may be missing a cosmic bet.

He is not tuning in on the wisdom of the little green men, or large purple men, out there in the Milky Way.

For if the President would install a radiophone to the cosmos, he might get valuable information.

Before proceeding further, dear reader, it should be emphasized that this is not science fiction; it is a serious, attested by card-carrying members of the Ph.D. and D.Sc. union.

Reasons Cited

In the first place it is well known that in our galaxy of stars, nicknamed the Milky Way, there may be 600 million planets bearing intelligent life. (Authority: Prof. Lloyd Motz of Columbia University and other astronomers.)

In the second place, many of these creatures may be far brighter than we are. (This seems self-evident, but in case of doubt your correspondent has supporting data in his files.)

Thirdly, it seems likely that these superhuman creatures may be beaming a very superior brand of philosophy and know-how to other people in the universe.

But, at present, we are making no serious effort to tune in, officials say.

Back in 1960, during the cosmic-minded administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower, an attempt was made. For a total of 150 hours the 85-foot antenna at the National Radio Astronomy Observatory, Green Bank, W.Va., was focused on two stars named Tau Ceti and Epsilon Eridani. These are the nearest stars likely to have planets with intelligent life on them.

Results were negative. No intelligent messages were detected.

Nothing Doing

The experiment was under the charge of Dr. Frank D. Drake. Asked the other day whether Green Bank is listening in now, Dr. Drake turned out to be monosyllabic.

"No," he said.

Asked if he knew of any such said: "No."

Asked why not, he said: "For one thing, it is very difficult." project in operation anywhere, he

There are difficulties, to be sure. Like the problem of separating messages from cosmic noise, generated by atoms out there. (This writer, a nonscientist, has never had the pleasure of listening to cosmic voice, but is reliably informed that it sounds like chicken bones rattling in a garbage can.)

Despite the difficulties, the quest for stargate wisdom, if energetically pursued, might hit the jackpot rather quickly, scientists feel. On the other hand, it might take 100 years, or even eternity.

What is needed is better equipment than we have now. This, of course, would require a large appropriation — though nothing like the $20 billion for astronaut's journeys to the moon, where they are not likely to meet any philosophers.

Poor Equipment

One expert, Dr. Ronald N. Bracewell of Stanford University, describes the Green Bank experiment as a "rather half-hearted effort with rather poor equipment."

This is a shame, he feels, because: "An inter-space Associated Press probably is transmitting thousands of words per minute today, but we aren't tuned in."

How would the folks out there talk to us? No matter how advanced they are, it is too much to expect that they can speak a local dialect like English.

But this presents no problem. Dr. Bernard M. Oliver has shown, in International Science and Technology magazine, how they might send a cosmogram introducing themselves to us.

They might transmit a series of electro-magnetic pulses, separated by pauses. Any human being at all smart could translate the message — into a pictograph, packed with information.

The pictograph which Dr. Oliver imagined shows a papa and mamma biped, each seven feet tall, with pointed heads and six fingers on each hand. Between them there is a small-fry biped, strongly resembling them.

Study of the picture shows that their life is based on a carbohydrate chemistry, because hydrogen, carbon and oxygen atoms are represented.

These folks live on the fourth planet in their solar system, but they know what's on the third planet — namely water and fishes. This shows they are space travelers.

As for President Kennedy, it would do him no good to address specific queries to the cosmos, like: "How can we win the next election?"

The nearest stars likely to have planets fit for intelligent beings are 10 to 15 lightyears away. This means a lapse of 20 to 30 years between the dispatch of a message and receipt of reply. In view of the two-term limitation, President Kennedy would long since have been reduced to writing his memoirs.

The point is, however, that decades or aeons ago the folks out there may have set up a communications Peace Corps designed to assist underdeveloped people like us. Their messages, packed with general wisdom useful to a statesman, may be reaching earth right now.

Business Was Good In January

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Business activity in Pennsylvania during January may have been better than some of the standard barometers indicate, a survey showed Friday.

Pennsylvania State University's Bureau of Business Research said in its monthly index that, "Pennsylvania business conditions may be improving."

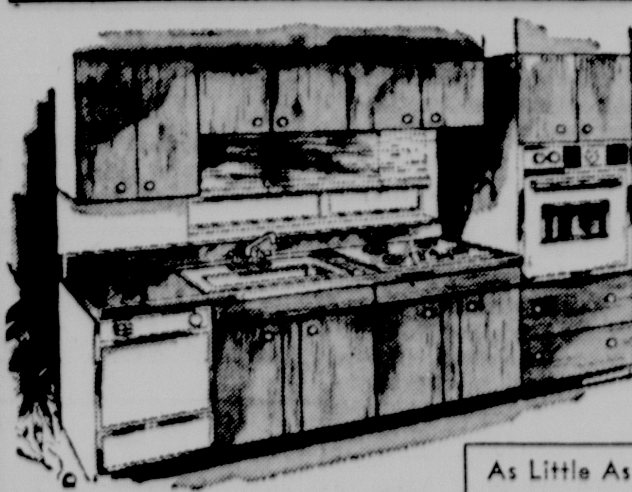

The report noted that January traditionally is not a busy month, in terms of economic activity. It added:

"Yet the unusually severe weather in January produced a smaller than usual slowdown. There were also several work stoppages and these too failed to affect total activity as much as might have been expected."

"In January, changes in employment were small; the rate of steel output rose, and an exceptionally heavy use of checking accounts suggests that business may have been better than some of the less comprehensive measures indicate."

Pa. Senate To Restudy State Education Board

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Senate is due to take a second look this week at Gov. Scranton's proposed state board of education.

The proposal was defeated last week when it failed by one vote to gain the necessary 26 votes. Senate Democrats stood in solid opposition and two of the Republican 27-member majority were absent when the votes were counted.

However, majority leader James S. Berger expects to have all his troops on the voting line this week and said he would push the bill to another test.

The proposal gained the unqualified support of the state Chamber of Commerce over the weekend, although the Democratic minority still claims there hasn't been sufficient study of the proposal.

The Democrats scheduled joint-House-Senate minority hearings on the bill for March 25. However, if Berger has his forces at full strength, the proposal most likely will be in the House Education Committee by that time.

The plan would create a 15-member board to map education policy in the state. The board would have two seven-member subdivisions: A council on higher education, a council on basic education.

In the house, attention continues to center on a Republican split over an amendment to a harness racing bill now on the floor.

The bill originally was intended simply to transfer the harness racing commission to the agriculture department.

However, 16 Republicans joined the Democrats last week to pass an amendment which would bar any member of the commission from racing his horses on Pennsylvania tracks.

The bill clearly was aimed at Lawrence B. Sheppard, chairman of the commission and one of the most renowned harness horse breeders in the nation.

Good Friday Rites Planned In Barrett

BARRETT — The annual Good Friday service, sponsored by the Barrett Council of Churches will be held in the Mountaintown Methodist Church April 12 at 12 noon. Rev. William Relyea MacLachlan will officiate.

The three hours service is based on the seven last words of Christ on the cross. Participating pastors are Rev. Nathaniel Albee, Canadensis Moravian Church; Rev. John D. O'Neill, Canadensis Methodist Church.

Rev. Karl Keller, pastor of Keokee Chapel, Evangelical and United Brethren, Paradise Valley, will read the lesson and speak on the second word, "Today thou shalt be with me in paradise."

Rev. George Weiland, retired Moravian minister will preach on the third word, "Woman, behold thy son . . . Behold thy mother."

Rev. Merrill Chalmers, chaplain of Tobyhanna Army Depot will speak on the sixth word, "It is finished."

Rev. MacLachlan will preach on the first word, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do." He will present the message on the fourth word, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?"

The fifth word, "I thirst," will be the basis for meditation by Rev. Albee and the seventh word, "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit" will be discussed by Rev. O'Neill.

Mrs. Warren E. Miller will preside at the organ console during the service playing a prelude and postlude in addition to accompanying the hymns.

Special music will be presented by the senior choir of the Mountaintown Methodist Church and the Canadensis Methodist and Moravian Chords. Mrs. John Naudman directs the Mountaintown choir. Mrs. Alvin Ziegler is director of the Moravian choir and Mrs. Donald Price.

PM Band Boosters Boast $1,000 Toward Uniforms

SWIFTWATER — Charles Brader, president of the Pocono Mountain Band Boosters Association, yesterday announced that the organization has more than $1,000 in its treasury.

Brader said the funds were to be used for the purchase of uniforms for the 80-member senior band. "Raising $5,000 for uniforms will take a long time," he said. "Because of that, we approached the joint school board to ask their help in raising necessary funds."

The request for financial assistance was made to the budget and finance committee which reported to the joint board last Wednesday. No action was taken on the request. It was taken under consideration.

Robert Lane, band director, said the band is growing rapidly, both in size and numbers.

"We asked the board to assist in the initial purchase of uniforms," Brader pointed out, "with the understanding that the Band Boosters will purchase additional uniforms."

Money for uniforms has been the aim of the organization since its inception two years ago. During that time, money has been raised by concerts and other events. Private donations have swelled the treasury over the thousand dollar mark.

Pocono and Barrett PTAs and Pocono Mountain Joint PTA have donated toward uniforms. Penn Dell Dairy donated and the treasury of the now defunct Pocono Band Booster was turned over to the joint club.

The figure of $5,000 is based on 80 band members at $70 per uniform. The school board was asked to aid the boosters by budgeting $4,600 for the 1963-1964 school year. The band boosters would supply the remaining money necessary and continue to purchase additional uniforms.

Brader said that donations could be made by private individuals or groups. For information contact Charles Brader, 421-3108; Earl Williams, vice president, 595-2869; or Robert Lane, 839-9739.

The band boosters will meet Thursday in the joint school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. to finalize arrangements for the annual Spring Concert. Lee Wesner, director of the choral group, will present the program of musical selections featuring members of the chorus.

work in the city. Tom thought that he could wait until his later years before looking into this social security business.

The following year, however, Tom changed his mind and decided to look into this "business". A speaker at his local farm association meeting explained the survivors provisions of the law. Tom thought of his young wife and their small children. He filed an income tax return and paid the social security tax. It wasn't a good year, however, and profits were small. He filed again in 1957, 1958, and 1959, but profits were small. He always planned to get around to that big year of 1955 and file a delayed return. But Tom was no longer well; late in 1960 he died.

Mrs. Edwards applied for survivors benefits for herself and the small children. Benefits, however, had to be based on Tom's average earnings after 1954. Because Tom had failed to report his income for 1955 and had never got around to filing a delayed return, those earnings could not be included in the average. His widow and children had to take a smaller benefit.

He cited the case of a man he called Tom Edwards. Tom was a young and prosperous farmer with a large family. When self-employed farmers were brought under social security beginning with 1955, Tom didn't give much thought to it. He was a busy man; there was a new baby. Tom thought of social security as something for older people like his neighbor Jones who had qualified for old-age benefits because of his

Maj. John E. McDonald, adjutant. As part of the changeover, the battle group would become the 3rd Brigade of the 28th Division, with an increase in strength of more than 40 per cent, including more than double the number of officers.

It is expected that new equipment, including helicopters and a large calibre Davy Crockett "rifles" with atomic capability will be assigned to the brigade.

The project will convert the pentomic structure, based on five infantry battle groups, to a ROAD structure, a division base and three combat brigades — ROAD is Reorganization Objective Army Division.

A Guard spokesman said that the approval for the project is expected soon.

The reorganization sets a limit of 110 officers and 1,348 enlisted men for the brigade — present strength is 50 officers and 978 enlisted men.

Co. A, East Stroudsburg, is expected to become Co. C, 1st Battalion.

The main feature of the battalion organization will be a mortar and Davy Crockett platoon. This platoon will be equipped with one 120 MM Recoilless gun and one 155 MM recoilless gun.

No Injuries In Rt. 191 Accident

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall announced Friday that a maximum of 575,000 barrels daily of residual fuel oil may be imported during the year beginning April 1 for use as fuel on the East Coast.

This is an increase of 50,200 barrels daily, or 9.6 per cent, over currently effective allocation of 524,800.

The current quota was adjusted upward on Jan. 31 from an original allocation of 507,000 barrels daily for the year ending March 31, for the announced purpose of meeting demands arising from the abnormally cold winter weather.

Department spokesman declined to tie the increase directly to the recommendation by the office of Emergency Planning last month for a careful and meaningful relaxation of the import controls on residual fuel oil.

Assembly Voting Recorded

STATE Representatives Van D. Yetter, Democrat, Monroe County, and J. Russell Eshback, Republican, Pike Co., were favorable to most of the major legislation acted on in the House during the week of March 1.

Both voted yes to bill 98, which would repeal the requirement of names and addresses of owners on commercial vehicles. Both also voted affirmatively on bill 189, to exclude out-of-state purchasers and out-of-state users of motor vehicles and trailers from sales tax.

Yetter voted against bill 118, and Eshback voted for it. The legislation would transfer professional licensing boards from Public Instruction Dept., to Department of State.

Both were amenable to bill 334, making it illegal to drive without lights to avoid identification, and both were favorable to bill 386, which would authorize borough ordinances to be in force after attachment to borough ordinance book.

All the bills were ultimately passed by the House.

In the Senate, a Republican Senator William Z. Scott voted for all the major legislation acted on by the Senate.

All were passed except Senate bill 112, creating a state board of education to replace the state council of education.

Other bills would create an amendment to the constitution permitting $70 million debt for huge parks and state recreational programs; increase the amount a bank may loan to those affiliated with the banking business; make a $4 million supplemental appropriation to the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority; authorize boroughs to provide audits by CPAs and certified firms.

Document Collection Offered

CAPT. Fred T. Ehrgood, U.S. Air Force Reserve, RD 4, Stroudsburg, when shown the map of the Revolutionary War battlefields featured this week in the Americana Historical Document Collection, was impressed.

"I never saw history told more graphically," Capt. Ehrgood said. "When I studied the Revolutionary War in school it never came to life for me the way it does on this map. You can see the war chronologically from Concord to Yorktown."

The document in question is the two-color map showing step by step progress of events in the war during 1775, '76, '77, '78, '79, '80, and on through '91.

This map is on antiquated parchment that looks and actually feels old. Other documents in the collection now available to our readers are the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, the Star Spangled Banner, the Prayers of Peter Marshall, and the History of the United States' Flag.

For details on how to get today's feature and the other documents listed above, look at today's announcement in advertisement form elsewhere in the paper.

Jaycees Plan Two Projects In Community Development

RUSSELL Beck, president of the Pocono Mountain Junior Chamber of Commerce made public today the two projects that will be undertaken in the Community Development Contest entered by the Jaycees at the request of Mayor Small with the endorsement of the borough council.

These projects are "Planning and Zoning" and "Entrance and exit lighting of the thruway with in the borough of Stroudsburg." Two projects are required by the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the statewide contest.

Stroudsburg is in the third of five population categories in the contest.

Seven winners will be chosen in this classification with prizes ranging from $1500 to $100. Matching awards are also available to the winners by sixteen additional sponsors.

It has been agreed by the Jaycee organization and the borough council that any prize money won will be used to expand or create new recreational facilities for the children of the borough.

Howard Popkin, chairman of the project, announced that the duties of the Jaycees in this contest are two-fold. To inform and educate the public as to what is being done to accomplish these goals and the reasons behind it.

Also to maintain a progress record including pictures, news articles, and report showing the progress of local government toward the successful conclusion of these two projects. Finally to submit this record book to the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce at the beginning of 1964 for judging.

Assisting Popkin who is serving as general chairman is Howard Coslet, Photography, and Russell Beck, coordination and continuity. These chairman are assisted by the entire Jaycee organization serving under them in sub-committees.

"was truly blessed because she heard the voice of God and put it into practice."

He noted that she lived—1774 to 1821—"precisely at the time when the young republic was beginning to take its important place among the peoples of the world and to give proof of its inexhaustible possibilities in every field."

The beatification directed his thoughts to the United States, where "the heroes of the most noble human undertaking are honored with acclaim and admiration both in life and death," he went on.

Cites Achievements "Citizens of America have explored the sea and the air; they have open-handed hospitality and employment to people immigrating from every land. America has continued to overcome with courage the various difficulties which have arisen from time to time, and to render her legislation—which is derived from the principles of Christian morality—even more in keeping with the dignity of the human persons."

Mother Seton, a distant relative of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, was a convert from Protestantism. She was born in New York City on Aug. 28, 1774.

A widowed mother of five who became a nun in Baltimore she formed the first American-created order of nuns—the Sister of Charity of St. Joseph. She died in 1821.

She is hailed by America's 42 million Catholics as the pioneer of the parochial school system and modern Catholic social service in the United States.

Hundreds of Sisters of Charity knelt in the echoing basilica along with Cardinal Spellman and Joseph Elmer Cardinal Ritter, archbishop of St. Louis.

Spellman Translates In an unusual procedure, Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York provided an English translation as Pope John read his speech in Italian. Every few paragraphs the Pope paused and allowed the New York archbishop to speak.

Pealing Bells Mark Mother Seton Rites

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pealing bells herald the beatification Sunday of Elizabeth Ann Bayley Seton, first native-born American brought to the threshold of sainthood. Pope John XXIII hailed the 19th century nun as a heroine from an "illustrious nation."

With more than 4,000 American pilgrims on hand, including two cardinals, Mother Seton was proclaimed "beata"—blessed—in a glittering ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica. One of those present was Anne Therese O'Neill, 15, of Baltimore, Md., whose recovery from leukemia 11 years ago has been attributed to the miraculous aid of Mother Seton.

Pope Attends Several hours later, 81-year-old Pope John went to the basilica for the first public veneration of Mother Seton, now just a step from sainthood.

"Elizabeth Seton is the first officially recognized flower of sanctity which the United States of America offers to the world," the Pope told the 6,000 persons attending the 30-minute veneration ceremony as dusk settled over Rome.

"It is a source of satisfaction to us to pay such a tribute to that illustrious nation, as an augury for further advances in spiritual progress," he added.

"For the first time there has appeared in glory above the altar of the chair of St. Peter a heroine of the United States of America."

In an unusual procedure, Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York provided an English translation as Pope John read his speech in Italian. Every few paragraphs the Pope paused and allowed the New York archbishop to speak.

Takes Course At Bear School

JOHN F. BRUSH, RD 2, East Stroudsburg, has just completed his training at Bear Manufacturing Company's world-famous Automotive Safety Service School in Rock Island, Illinois.

Brush received intensive training in alignment, balancing, and frame straightening, learning the latest techniques in this important safety service. The School is the largest of its kind anywhere and attracts students from all over the world.

Brush will apply his ability to make cars run safer, smoother, more comfortably and more economically at Pat & Red Tire Company, 289 Washington Street, East Stroudsburg.

Metropolitan Lists Payments

JAMES M. Glus, manager of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's Easton, Pa., district, which covers Monroe County, reports that the company's payments to policyholders and beneficiaries in Pennsylvania last year amounted to $171,092,568.

"On the basis of company-wide averages, about twice as much was paid to living policyholders as to beneficiaries of death claim payments," he added. Glus has just returned from New York City where he attended a business conference with top Metropolitan officials.

Over the last five years, payments to Pennsylvania policyholders and beneficiaries have amounted to $796,583,983.

Metropolitan paid out a record $1,086,000,000 to policyholders and beneficiaries last year, a sum almost twice the amount paid out as recently as ten years ago. It was the sixth year in succession in which these payments have passed the one and one-half billion mark.

Haynes Named Area Chairman

JESS HAYNES, local Ford Dealer and Joseph DePuelo, Ford dealer in Old Forge, Pa., were elected Chairman and Co-Chairman, respectively of the Ford Dealers Council of Zone I, Newark District. The Ford Dealer meeting was held Wednesday, March 13, in Wilkes-Barre.

Their job entails meetings with all Ford Dealers in the Newark District to gather recommendations for the Ford Motor Car Company for quality, planning, styling, design and public and community relations for Ford.

Rotary Drums Leave For Italy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two huge rotary drums manufactured by the Titusville, Pa., plant of Dorr-Oliver Corp. were loaded yesterday aboard the freighter Concordia Star for delivery to Sicily, Italy.

A spokesman for B. H. Sobelman and Co., local agents for the ship, said each unit will weigh 140,000 pounds when fully assembled. They will be used by Esso International as pressure type filters for propane dewaxing of lubricating oils.

Assn. For Blind Gives Suggestions

THE CARBON Monroe Association for the Blind recommends that the family start in the spring of the year and schedule appointments with a local medical eye doctor. Once a year checkups are excellent; every three years is good; less than that is bad.

If you believe in signs and we all do in the spring of the year, here are some that may show a need for a complete eye examination:

Chronic headache; Murred vision; halos around lights; loss of side vision; eye discomfort when you read or watch TV for extended periods; a tendency to frown, squint or tilt the head on order to see better; tension after you do close work.

Look for these signs and remember: Make your spring visits to your local Ophthalmologist a family affair from the little tots on up.

Winter Helps Anthracite Production

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — This winter, one of the coldest in Pennsylvania in the 1900s, has resulted in a 5 per cent increase in anthracite production, according to the State Mines Department.

It estimated that in the three-month period ending in January production was 4,602,000 tons, up about 5 per cent from the corresponding 1961-62 period. However, employment in January was down from 13,306 to 12,204.

Coal operators, mindful that February continued unusually cold, are looking forward to a good spring season to rebuild their stockpiles.

FCC Postpones Rate Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission announced Friday an indefinite postponement of its order authorizing rate increases for the private use of leased communications lines.

The commission authorized the increases Jan. 29 after a seven-year investigation. It directed the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and Western Union to file papers to put the higher rates into effect May 1.

In Wednesday's action, the FCC said the order would be stayed while it considers petitions for reconsideration.

Reconsideration was requested by press interests who had opposed the AT&T and Western Union applications for rate increases.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association, which was among those asking reconsideration, said in a Feb. 15 statement some users would pay up to 150 per cent for private line service under the new tariff schedules.

The ANPA noted that AT&T had estimated the increases would average about 9 per cent to press users and 2.1 per cent for commercial users, while charges for governmental users under the new tariffs would be 7.8 per cent lower.

Radical New Changes Due In Homes

A HOST of revolutionary interior design concepts geared for new and different family living habits will begin unfolding in U.S. homes within the next few years. As increasing leisure time and higher incomes create a greater demand for luxuries and conveniences, these desires will bring radical changes in home decoration and design.

A survey among leading interior decorators throughout the country by the American Home Improvement Institute, national clearing house for design and building information, shows the late '60s will usher in new kinds of furnishings, appliances and decorating materials and new ways to live with them.

In the kitchen, for example, push-button meal preparation is on the horizon. Appliances will be designed combining the facilities of sink, refrigerator, peeler, can opener, mixer-blender, seasoning adder and range-oven. The home-maker will be able to dial the meal desired, from ingredients to cooking method. The food will be prepared, cooked electronically in seconds and apportioned on dishes ready for serving.

New "Theater Room"
Kitchens will be made larger and a trend will develop to make this room as popular for entertaining and activities as the family room. Eating will be informal and game tables, lobby corners, comfortable furnishings and a variety of equipment for relaxation and recreation will be used. Combination fun-and-snack activities will become more popular than ever.

A new kind of room will be introduced — the "theater room." Here, as communications advances continue, families will have facilities for watching TV from all over the world. At the flick of a switch, stereo recordings or special Hollywood movies will be available from libraries stocking them for entire communities.

In decor, new trends will appear and certain old ones will continue. The current popularity of textured materials such as flocked wallpapers, embossed resilient floor tile, sculptured Panalair filigree, raised-weave fabrics and three-dimensional wall decorations will continue. And new favorites will include many textured glass and plastic products.

Furniture will be quite different. Pieces hung from the ceiling or extended from walls will become popular. Fold-away furniture that collapses into compartments in the floor or wall will be designed as homeowners demand more usable space in small quarters.

The do-it-yourself trend will continue to grow and there will be more interest in assembly of kits. Tomorrow's kits will permit assembly of entirely finished rooms which can be added to homes, full roof sections completely shingled, walls completely papered, floors already carpeted and a host of other large and small projects that will make home improvement easier and less costly.

How To Succeed At Home As Your Own Decorator

MOST homeowners can develop sufficient good taste in color styling and attaining balance within rooms to be reasonably successful as do-it-yourself decorators. But too often the efforts of these decorator-amateur designers are foiled because they lack certain basic knowledge of decorating concepts and the use of modern-day materials.

To help them better understand the decorator's language and tools, the American Home Improvement Institute, national clearing house for design and building information, has compiled this dictionary of 13 key terms every homeowner should know to achieve success in interior decorating:

BANQUETTE: bench built-in along a wall; usually for sitting while dining.

CHIPPENDALE: type of furniture named for famous 18th century English designer; with graceful curved lines and pierced-shell-work ornamentation.

CLERESTORY: in modern homes, a ribbon of windows high along a wall.

CORRELATED GROUPS: describes furniture pieces not matching exactly, as in a "suite," but instead related through decorative themes repeated only on some pieces; for use in various rooms simultaneously to draw together overall interior motif of home.

Dim to Bright
DIMMER: device for dialing range of lighting intensity from dim to bright, rather than just on-and-off switch.

ECLECTIC: currently popular decorating technique of mixing furnishings from past and present periods and from various parts of the globe.

HEPPLEWHITE: type of furniture named for 18th century London

CLEANLINESS — ONE OF OUR RICHES
AMERICANS have learned to enjoy the privilege of cleanliness as one of our greatest riches, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

Have Built-In Stereo By Harold Knipe

IN AN age when everything is "built-in," Harold Knipe of Knipe's Radio-Stereo-TV, 18 N. Sixth St., Stroudsburg, suggests that for the best sounds around you can't beat Built-In Stereo.

Using the best components made, Knipe can send melodic strains of undistorted music throughout your house, and it really adds so much to the pleasure and relaxation you can enjoy in your home.

Knipe's have famous names such as: Bell, Altec, VM, Scott and many others and if you're a do-it-yourselfer these components are available at Knipe's.

You might also like to check into an Intercom-System for your home or business. Many steps can be saved and efficiency raised by the installation of one of these systems.

And last but not least, why not build-in a color or black & white TV set. One of Knipe's famous RCA TV sets would really look smart in any room.

If you're building or remodeling or wondering if it can be done in existing rooms stop in or call Knipe's today. Harold will be happy to advise and give free estimates.

GET A QUALITY WATER SYSTEM

IF YOU are planning on building a "quality" home beyond the city water mains, be sure that you also get a quality water system. To be sure of full benefit and convenience, deal with the expert water system contractor. Today's skilled and experienced water system experts know how to provide country homes with water so plentiful, safe, and trouble-free that the householder will seldom give the water supply, a thought, says the Water Systems Council.

PLAN NOW FOR SUMMER IMPROVEMENTS

IMPROVEMENTS in the home heating system can most conveniently be done during the summer months. That's why now is a good time to make plans for the modernization of the heating system to be undertaken during the summer, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

AN INGENIOUS filigree-encased TV-stereo center creates the focal point for activity in this contemporary living room. The simple lines of the furnishings and the serene elegance of the filigree are combined with the natural texture of wood-plank walls and a parquet floor. The distinctive black marble in the tops of the hour-glass-base end table and the coffee table is repeated in the dining room table, which is set apart from the living room by a Panalair divider in a contemporary oriental filigree. The oriental pattern is used again in the window treatment and the lower sliding doors of the practical built-in, with filigree in a complementing granada style in the upper doors. The sheer curtains and soft carpeting carry out the theme of natural elegance.

Time Is Near To Store Your Furs At Akoury's

LADIES! Fur storage time approaches rapidly. Now there is no need to send your furs out of town to be stored. A new and modern fur storage vault is right here in Stroudsburg at Anthony Furs, corner Eighth and Main Streets.

Owned and operated by Anthony Akoury, a furrier of many years experience, this modern vault can store 3,000 garments and is moth-proof, fire proof, burglar proof, temperature controlled and insured.

On the premises at Anthony Furs, this vault allows the person storing their furs availability at all times. And all you have to do is pick up the phone (421-6741) and call Anthony's for bonded pick-up or delivery.

Aside from fur storage, Anthony Furs sell, repair, restyle, clean, glaze and electrify all types of fur coats, capes and stoles. All in all Anthony's is a complete furrier in every sense. That is their only and first business.

ADVANTAGES OF AERATORS
MODERN faucets are made with aerators that give the effect of washing in softened water. In buying a new faucet, the swivel action aerator should be specified. This type makes it easier to rinse out the lavatory. All aerators should be cleaned occasionally, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau advises.

THINKING ABOUT AIR CONDITIONING?
REMEMBER last August when you said you wouldn't go through another summer without air conditioning? Summer will soon be here. This is the time to call on an experienced heating-cooling contractor for advice on the type of summer cooling equipment best suited to your house and budget.

If you have a modern hydronic (hot water) heating system, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, cooling can be combined with the heating equipment or it can be operated independently.

Miss Bonnie Jane Cunningham

Robert Hartman To Wed In April Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Cunningham, 426 Sunny Avenue, Somers Point, N.J., announce the coming marriage of their daughter Bonnie Jane to Mr. Robert C. Hartman, son of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hartman, 29 S. Green St., East Stroudsburg.

Miss Cunningham graduated from Trenton State College and is presently teaching at Mainland Regional High School.

Mr. Hartman graduated from Mansfield State College, with a B.S. degree, did graduate work at Northwestern University and received his M.A. degree in music at Trenton State College. He formerly taught at North Hunterdon Regional High School and is presently teaching in the Lebanon Township School System.

The wedding is planned for April 6 at the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church in Somers Point.

Legion Aux. To Sponsor Junior Girl

Barrett—A Barrett girl chosen by her teachers at Pocono Mountain Joint High School from the junior class will be sponsored for a week at Keystone Girls' State in June.

The American Legion Auxiliary, Evans Blitz Unit 822 will sponsor the girl to attend the week's session in practicing government. She will elect other girls to different office and be an officer-holding herself, to learn by doing the mechanics of state government.

The award will be made on the basis of all-around interest and school work and scholarship. Mrs. Lydia Christensen, president, announced.

In other business a donation of $5 was made to the Heart Association. A hospital bed was donated to the auxiliary from Mrs. Harold Edwards.

Mrs. Christensen told the 11 members present that the essays written by the Pocono Mountain Joint High School students had been sent to Harrisburg for state competition and judging.

Members will meet April 1 at the home of Mrs. Malinda Haylik, Mountainhome for a game party. Each member is to bring a gift which will be used for prizes.

Newfoundland Troops Attend Church Service

Newfoundland — Dressed in the uniform of a Brownie, Intermediate or Senior Scout, the girls of the three troops in Newfoundland attended worship services at the Moravian Church on Girl Scout Sunday.

They were Shirley Stevens, Melissa Burdick, Sharon Haag, Nancy and Cindy Haldeman, Ruth Schoenagel, Kathy Butler, Paula Kipp, Trudy and Carol Krieger, Brenda Keiter, Anita Croft, Candace Price, Barbara Simons, Pat Woltjen, Joanne and Wendy Nevin, Debbie Banks, Carol Welland and Susan and Sharon Newcomer.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Ethel Wohlfart, Mrs. Phyllis Jones and Mrs. Thelma Peet, leaders, and Mrs. Joan Nevin, Mrs. Evelyn Haldeman and Mrs. Marilyn Banks, members of the troop committee.

During their meeting this week, a joint session including all three troops, the girls saw slides of Girl Scout Camp, Camp by Melissa Burdick, Gail Butler and Shirley Stevens. The Brownies put on an exhibition of their physical fitness exercises and the Girl Scouts joined in with appropriate games.

Next week, the Brownies will don their smocks made from their father's shirts and begin work on their paintings. The Girl Scouts will meet on Wednesday in a regular session.

Stork Arrives Month Before Stork Shower

Canadensis — Susan Lynn Miller was one month old March 4, the day her mother, Gayle Wilkinson Miller was guest of honor at a stork shower at the home of Mrs. Alviron Van Driesen, Seese Hill, Canadensis.

Baby gifts were arranged in a bassinet. The dining room was decorated in pink and white with streamers leading to the table which had a centerpiece of a three tier pink and white cake topped with a miniature stork. A large stork and miniature bassinet completed the decor. Mrs. Thomas McKinney, a co-hostess, baked the cake.

Each guest received a pipe-cleaner stork as a favor which were made by co-hostesses, Mrs. Nicholas Komenko, Mrs. George Seese and Mrs. Van Driesen.

Attending were Miss Marie Spangenberg, Mrs. Carl Spangenberg, Mrs. Edna Gardner, Mrs. John O'Neill, Mrs. Richard Klee, Mrs. John Absalom, Mrs. Thomas McKinney Sr., Mrs. Leo Smith, Mrs. Herbert Larsen, Miss Elaine Larsen, Miss Yvonne Noel and Mrs. James Barr.

Also present were Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. A. Wilkinson, her aunt, Mrs. Julia Gilevich and her grandmother, Mrs. George Reha.

Mrs. Miller announced Susan Lynn's birth weight at six pounds, four ounces. She said her four daughters, Laure Ann, 5½; Bevis Reha, 4½; Mildred Elaine, 3½ and Luana Chris, 2, were pleased with a new sister.

Mrs. Miller is the wife of John Miller, Sand Spring Rd., Cresco. Guests unable to attend, but sending gifts were Mrs. David Blitz, Mrs. Oliver Seder, Mrs. Sherwood Reese, Mrs. Rodney Shoemith, Mrs. Horace Storm, Mrs. George Zielinski, Mrs. Blaine Siglin, Mrs. Robert Quinn, Mrs. Henry Weidaw Jr., Mrs. Conrad Serfas and Mrs. Isaac Siglin.

Brownie Troop Attends Church On Scout Day

Tobyhanna — Among Girl Scouts of Monroe County attending church on Girl Scout Sunday, March 10, were the members of Brownie Troop 304, Tobyhanna.

The Protestant girls accompanied by Mrs. Louis Quast and Mrs. Herbert Jaco attended services in Tobyhanna Methodist Church and the Catholic girls accompanied by Mrs. Flaherty attended Mass at St. Ann's.

On March 13, the girls held their Juliette Low In-gathering at which time they brought in the "Daisy Dandy" pot holders, a special project being carried out throughout the Scranton Pocono Council. The pot holders will be distributed to the council's day and established camps for use during this year's camping season.

The girls joined their World Friendship Daisy Chain and attached their troop's contribution for the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. The fund was established in memory of Juliette Low founder of Girl Scouting in the U.S.A., to foster friendship among Girl Scouts and Girl Guides of all countries.

Promised Land Egg Hunt Planned

Promised Land—Plans for the April 12 Egg Hunt, an annual affair sponsored by the Promised Land Ladies Community Club, were discussed during the semi-monthly meeting of the club at Promised Land Inn at which Mrs. Edna Branch presided. Hostesses were Catherine Hoffert and Ruth Flory.

Named hostesses for the March 13 meeting were Marie Glasner and Mary Hancziak.

Present for the meeting were Allen Welland, Marie Glasner, Helen Bastian, Althea Frano, Flora Arnold, Rachel Kistler, Edna Branch, Evelyn Siegfried, Dorothy Evans, Helen Johnson, Mary Hancziak, Catherine Hoffert, Ruth Flory and Gertrude Steltz.

Crusaders Plan For Easter Dawn On Hawkeshill

Bartonsville — Easter dawn service plans were discussed when the March meeting of the Crusaders of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School was held at the parish house, Mrs. Robert Beehler will sing a solo and Bruce Hartman will play a piano selection. Both are members of St. John's. There will also be guest participants.

The dawn service is scheduled to be held on Hawkeshill, the estate of Mrs. Thomas G. Hawkes, midway between Bartonsville and Snydersville. If an outdoor service is impossible to be held, the service will be held in St. John's Church, at 6 a.m.

2 p.m., on April 20, was set as the time for the annual Easter egg hunt for the children of St. John's Sunday School. All members are requested to donate a dozen colored eggs.

$25 was donated to the church painting fund. About twenty-five percent of the needed amount had been received on March 10.

Hosts appointed for the next meeting are Mr. and Mrs. Haviland Heller. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Field.

Pocono Garden Club Theme 'Melody In Bloom' Is Set

Tannersville — President Esther Carson opened the March meeting of the Pocono Garden Club with the reading of the poem, "First Robin."

Mrs. Jack London, chairman of the flower show committee gave a resume of the show schedule.

The theme this year will be, "Melody In Bloom." Arrangements will include, "Moonlight and Roses," "The Old Oaken Bucket," "Shine On Harvest Moon," "Deep Purple," "Tea For Two," "Home On the Range," "An Old Fashioned Garden," "White Christmas," "Little Brown Jug," "Medean Hat Dance," "September Song," "Let's Twist," "Halls of Ivy," "Let Us Break Bread Together," and "By the Sea."

Mrs. Robert Marley reported that a silver coffee pot, tray and sugar and creamer have been received by the club in exchange for S & H green trading stamps. Members wishing to donate stamps should send them to Mrs. Marley.

Arrangements for the April meeting were discussed. These will be Easter centerpieces. Anything pertaining to Easter may be used and may be other than flowers.

Mrs. J. N. Canfield Jr. introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Eugene Williams, of Tobyhanna. Her topic was "Floral Designs."

Mrs. Williams said that flowers are a thing of beauty and we should keep them beautiful as long as possible after cutting. The best way to do this is to cut them in the early morning. If this is impossible, cut them in late evening. Then put them in warm water for awhile. Never put them immediately in cold water.

A tip on keeping gladioli for a longer time was to take off the topmost bud on each stalk. This gives more strength to the remaining buds.

Mrs. Williams said that roses should always be put in quite hot

Workshop Set In Harrisburg For Women

A Legislative Workshop for clubwomen will be held on March 27 at Harrisburg designed to bring conservation, legislative and community affairs chairmen up to date on legislative processes and ways of working for local community needs.

Sponsored jointly by the YWCA, Public Affairs Committee of Pennsylvania, the YWCA of Harrisburg, the American Assn. of University Women, the Garden Clubs Federation of Pennsylvania, and the National Council of Jewish Women, the workshop will begin at 9:30 a.m. and adjourn at 3:30 p.m.

It will be held at the Young Women's Christian Assn. in Harrisburg with luncheon reservations to be made by March 26.

Mrs. Russell Hamblin, Stroudsburg, Chairman of District 2, of the state Garden Club Federation, plans to attend and is trying to recruit delegates from the Junior Woman's Club, AAUW, BPWC and other community groups to have a busload attend.

The program will include a talk on "Legislative Process" by Mrs. Mary Denman of the Pennsylvania Citizens Council, and an address on "Pending Legislation in the General Assembly" by Hon. A. James Reichley, legislative secretary to Gov. William W. Scranton.

Gov. Scranton will address the group in the Forum of the Capitol at noon.

Following luncheon, Hon. Genevieve Blatt, Secretary of Internal Affairs, will speak on "Women's Organizations and Legislation".

The sessions will end with a series of workshops on "Public Affairs in Your Community" and a view of legislation of concern to all those attending.

Academic Honor For Local Girl At W. Chester

Miss Carol Beers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enos Beers, Bangor, RD 2, has been placed on the high honors list for superior academic achievement during the fall semester at West Chester State College.

The announcement was made recently by Emil H. Messikomer, director of the undergraduate program at the college.

Variety Show Committee To Meet Tuesday

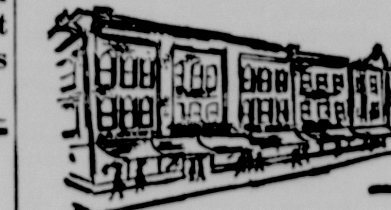

Barrett — The Spring Variety Show joint committee composed of representatives of the Barrett Friendly Library Association and the Barrett Junior Women's Club will meet tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Roy Williams, Seese Hill Road, Canadensis.

Final plans for the variety show will be made at the meeting. During the session, the program will be outlined and format arranged.

A Sincere Thank You

For all the cards, gifts, and flowers I received from so many wonderful people during my stay in the hospital. A special thanks to those who attended me while there.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

"Wedding bells will ring so merrily..." And sooner than you think too—if you are planning a June wedding! That's why, right this minute, you may be poring over an American Home magazine... consulting with your favorite dressmaker... selecting a new set of luggage from Wyckoff's... or wondering how to pare another fifty persons from your guest list.

Because we at Wyckoff's love weddings and enjoy sharing the responsibility of making particularly lovely all those with whom we are in any way associated, Florence Predmore is anxious to have you know about our wedding invitations. Whether you select printed invitations or engraved ones, you can be assured that ours are correct, excellent in quality, and most attractive. Prices start at 9.95 for 50. At least one week to ten days should be allowed for delivery.

The sooner you place your order, the more relaxed you can be about the whole thing, knowing there is plenty of time to take care of whatever gremlins occasionally act up to make life a tempest in a teapot. Visit our Stationery department today for assistance in making your selection. At the same time, if you haven't an etiquette book to assist you with your planning, why not purchase one? You'll find it an invaluable guide in systematizing the most important day of your life.

Wyckoff's has taken up boxing. No, not the kind that calls for fancy footwork and months of training... just setting boxes galore in our Frigidaire department to accommodate donations and contest coupons.

The first box was that of the Junior Women's Club in behalf of the S. S. Hope. It was asked that all Wyckoff customers with a collection of snagged, run-ribbed, or faded nylons deposit them therein, that they might be used to stuff toys for foreign children who will be treated medically aboard our wonderful "angel" ship, The Hope. The response has been excellent, and we urge all of you to continue your donations.

The second box was placed by the Senior Women's Club of the Stroudsburgs in behalf of linens for Laurel Manor, home for the aging. This too has attracted numerous gifts.

Now, a third box is on hand. In this, everyone is invited to deposit a name for the annual Wyckoff-Hadassah Fashion Show on Wednesday evening, June 19th, at Tamiment. Last year's show was called "Fashion in Orbit"... another was called "Fashions a la Carte." The idea is to suggest a title that lends itself to a bit of drama in script publicity, and staging. The prize will be two free tickets to the show, preceded by two free dinners (for which Tamiment is famous) and a special "surprise" from WYCKOFF'S. Enter your suggestions (as many as you wish) the next time you shop. The contest closes April 1st.

Liston Leaves Miami

Sonny-Floyd Fight Is Off

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston flew home to Chicago Sunday and killed any chance that his rematch with Floyd Patterson will ever be fought at Miami Beach.

Complaining again about his injured knee, Liston boarded a jet flight and said he would rest a week in Chicago. He said he would come back "only if the doctors give me an okay."

The champion's advisor, Jack Nilon, told newsmen at the airport that, "I will sit down Wednesday with Championship Sports and Sportsvision to determine when and where the fight will be held."

Will Be Okay

Nilon said he was confident that Liston's knee would be all right. He said Miami doctors who have been treating Liston would be in touch with him in Chicago and if further treatment becomes necessary, they will fly to Chicago to handle it.

Liston worked out last Sunday, Monday and Tuesday and appeared to be in excellent condition, but Nilon said that on Wednesday his knee began bothering him again after he had thrown a hard left at the heavy bag.

Nilon insisted that he wants to get the fight over with. He said Detroit, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and any number of cities are possibilities for the rematch.

Nobody expects Liston to come back to Miami Beach. His training equipment has been packed in sealed cartons for shipment to Chicago.

Tourist Season Over

The fight originally was scheduled for April 4. This is late in Florida's tourist season, after many free-spending visitors have gone back.

When Nilon reported that the champion had twisted his knee swinging a golf club and demanded a postponement until April 10, it became too late to hope for any form of financial success.

But after a doctor pronounced Liston's knee in good shape, and Sonny resumed training March 10, after a three-week layoff, it appeared that the fight would go on. Liston looked strong, sharp and confident in his workout.

From Saturday's Rainout

Big Boxing Card Set For Thursday

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The triple title boxing card washed out in Saturday's rainstorm was reset Sunday for Thursday night at Dodger Stadium.

Co-promoter George Parnassus announced at a news conference that the possibility of rain on Monday forced the decision to wait four days.

Thursday also is the Juarez Holiday in Mexico, when many fans from that nation could be present for the bouts.

In the triple cast, Emile Griffith of New York defends his welterweight crown against Cuban refugee Luis Rodriguez, who now calls Miami, Fla., home.

Parnassus originally had aimed for a Tuesday night show but said, "The field couldn't be ready for that night, so we set it for Thursday."

ESSC Girls Swim Team Places Sixth

PHILADELPHIA—East Stroudsburg State College placed sixth in the 17th annual Eastern Intercollegiate Women's Swimming championships here at the University of Pennsylvania Saturday.

The ESSC team gained eight points as Gail Teichmann took second-place honors in the diving event, and the 200-yard free-style relay team of Gwen Scheible, Linda Hopler, Miss Teichmann and Nancy Turner finished fourth.

A field of 12 teams was entered. West Chester won first place, followed by Penn, Trenton State, Temple, Centenary and ESSC.

Bob Guzzo Gains 3rd In Tourney

BLOOMSBURG — Bob Guzzo, East Stroudsburg State College's freshman wrestler, gained third place here in the NAIA championships.

Guzzo defeated Dave Caslow of Clarion (Pa.) State College, 8-1 in the consolation finals. He had earlier outpointed Tom Porter of Indiana State, 5-1.

His bout with Caslow was the second in tourney competition between the two. Caslow had gained a disputed decision over Guzzo in the Pennsylvania State Colleges wrestling tournament at Shippensburg.

The NAIA team championship went to Lock Haven State College by a one-point margin over defending champion Bloomsburg.

Buck Pipher, Miss Archer '840' Leaders

Clarence (Buck) Pipher, RD 1, East Stroudsburg, tossed a 617 match in the opening three games of the 9-game "840 Classic" finals yesterday at Colonial.

Kenny Fetherman, Stroudsburg, finished just 19 pins behind Pipher with 598. Al Schoch, Stroudsburg, scored 562 and Oscar (Okay) Stuckey, Stroudsburg, totaled 561. The men posted seven games of 200 or better.

Carmen Archer, Stroudsburg, has a 50-pin lead at the end of three games. Archer scored 523 yesterday. Doris Fetherman, Stroudsburg, 473. Mary Fedin, Pocono Summit, 458 and Mary German, Stroudsburg, 450.

The same eight bowlers will return next Sunday for the second set of three games in the nine game "840 Classic" finals.

Trophies go to non-finalists who had the best game and match. In the men's division Steve Balick, East Stroudsburg, scored the highest game, 243, and the best match 641.

In the ladies division, Helen Kresge, Stroudsburg had the best game, 224, and Eileen Stauffer, East Stroudsburg, the best match, 563.

'Bama Denies Georgia AD Gave Grid Information

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Alabama Coach Paul Bryant said Sunday he has taken a lie detector test and that the results support his denial that he was involved in an alleged football fix.

The Saturday Evening Post accuses Bryant and former University of Georgia athletic director Wallace Butts of collusion to fix the Alabama-Georgia football game last fall. Butts also denied the accusation.

The Post says in an article appearing this week that Butts gave Bryant detailed information on Georgia plays, players and defense eight days before the game which Alabama won 35-0.

"This I absolutely deny," Bryant said in a statement on a statewide television appearance.

Bryant said he volunteered to take a lie detector test before a professionally recognized expert "in order to insure my friends of the truth of what I said."

"The expert said the report completely supports me," Bryant said. He added that the lie detector expert, who was not named, has turned the results of the test over to University of Alabama President Frank Rose and Southeastern Conference Commissioner Bernie Moore.

In a statement after the telecast, Rose said that he has "found no evidence of any kind that would implicate Coach Bryant in any way with rigging or fixing or betting on football games."

"I've been a fighter all my life," he said. "But this is the biggest fight ever. It is certainly one I have to win, not just for myself but for my family and friends and the university — it hurts them all."

Georgia Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook pledged a full scale investigation.

"I won't stop until I have interrogated every person known to have been involved or who may yet be found to have been involved," Cook said. "I'm only seeking the truth."

CPMBL Slates Five Matches

FIVE matches are scheduled in the Colonial Pocono Mountains Bowling League tonight at Colonial Lanes starting at 9 p.m.

Lackawanna Hotel vs. Al Becker's Diner on alleys 1 and 2; Bill Puzio's Bar vs. DePue's Gas Service on alleys 3 and 4, and Joan's Beauty Salon vs. Ye Ole Saylor's Inn on alleys 5 and 6.

Shortly before Bryant spoke on television, Butts met with a newsmen in his home in Athens, Ga.

Jerome Alderman of the Senate committee said that investigation would specifically involve the reports of gambling.

At Tuscaloosa, Ala., an Alabama football player, Jimmy Sharpe, said there was nothing unusual about Alabama's preparations for the Georgia game last September.

Sharpe, a senior starting guard from Montgomery, Ala., said that Alabama coaches had followed normal procedures in preparing for the game.

Bryant also denied a "vicious rumor that I bet on the Georgia Tech game." The Alabama coach said that he has filed a $500,000 libel suit against the Saturday Evening Post for an article last fall about alleged rough playing in college football.

Russia Wins World Hockey Title With Win Over Canada

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Russia grabbed a 4-2 victory over Canada in a tension-packed final match Sunday night and captured the World Ice Hockey Championship with a fractionally better goal record than defending champion Sweden.

Everything hinged on the Russia-Canada game following Sweden's 3-2 defeat by Czechoslovakia earlier in the day.

That defeat gave Sweden a championship record of 12 points. Russia, trailing Sweden by two points, needed to beat the Canadians by a two-goal margin to tie the Swedish points tally and take the title on goal difference.

Late Rally

The Russians did just that despite a late rally by the Canadians which brought them two goals in the last minute.

East Germany tied the United States 3-3, and the Americans finished last.

Russia finished up with 12 points and a goal count of 14 against six. Sweden, also with 12 points, scored 12 goals and conceded five in the seven-match schedule.

Only goals involving the top five teams in Group A—Russia, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Canada and Finland — counted in the breaking of the tie at the top of the standings.

The championship was decided by subtracting the goals conceded from the goals scored.

Czechs Third

Czechoslovakia finished third with 11 points followed by Canada with nine. The other four teams in the group finished with three points each. Again goal average—this time involving all games—decided the placings.

The Colonial Ladies League will roll six matches tonight starting at 6:45 p.m.

Daily Record vs. Setzer Plumber on alleys 5 and 6; Wirt D. Miller vs. Deihl's Tire Store on alleys 7 and 8; Patterson Kelley vs. Lake House on alleys 9 and 10; Brite Cleaners vs. Glen Brook Country Club on alleys 11 and 12; D. Katz & Son vs. Twin City Body Shop on alleys 13 and 14, and Shaw Insulator vs. Lim's Sport Shop on alleys 15 and 16.

Floyd, 20, Wins Golf Tournament

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Youthful Raymond Floyd, bending with the pressure but refusing to bow to it, won the $25,000 St. Petersburg Open Sunday and his first paycheck as a touring golf professional.

The 20-year-old neophyte picked up $3,500 for the victory. He said the money was going home to Fayetteville, N.C.

Floyd went into the final round on the sun-drenched Lakewood Country Club course trailing 29-year-old Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y., by three strokes. But he scrambled to a 2-under-par 69 for a 274 total, while Marr fractured par with a 73 for a 275 total.

Mason Rudolph of Lehigh Acres, Fla., and Tommy Bolt of Palm Desert, Calif., tied for third at 276.

Four strokes behind at 278 were Bob Goalby of Belleville, Ill.; Doug Ford, Tam O'Shanter, N.Y.; Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N.C., and Billy Maxwell of Las Vegas, Nev.

The Winners

Two Games Remaining

Cincinnati Heading For 3rd NCAA Title

Just two games stand between the University of Cincinnati and the Bearcats' goal of winning an unprecedented third straight National Collegiate Basketball Championship.

But the road ahead of them this weekend in the annual colorful windup of the NCAA's dribble extravaganza is fraught with peril. They must get by 7-foot Mel Counts and Oregon State at Louisville, Ky. on Friday night. If they do, they then must face either second-ranked Duke or third-ranked Chicago Loyola in the title game Saturday night.

The top-ranked Bearcats won their trip to Louisville by beating Colorado 67-60 in the midwest regional final at Lawrence, Kan. last Saturday. Oregon State upset Arizona State 83-65 in the far west regional final at Provo, Utah. Duke chalked up its 20th straight by defeating St. Joseph's, Pa., 73-59 in the eastern regional final at College Park, Md., and Chicago Loyola reached the round of four by crushing Illinois 73-64 in the midwest regional final at East Lansing, Mich.

Beat Colorado

Top-seeded Wichita bowed out of the National Invitation Tourney in New York in another surprise Saturday. The Wheatshockers who hit the headlines by ending Cincinnati's 37-game winning streak last month lost to Villanova 54-53 in a quarter-final game.

Canisius Wins

In Saturday's other NIT games Canisius defeated Memphis State 76-67, St. Louis edged LaSalle 62-61 and Miami of Florida nipped St. Francis, N.Y., 71-70.

Mississippi State downed Bowling Green 65-60 in one of the four NCAA regional consolations. In the others San Francisco edged UCLA 76-75, West Virginia took New York University 83-73 and Texas defeated Oklahoma City 90-83.

Pan-American of Texas, which had upset top-seeded Grambling on Friday, won the NAIA small college championship by defeating Western Carolina 73-62 in the final at Kansas City. Grambling thumped Fort Hays State 107-86 for third place.

This Week's Slate

This is the schedule this week for the grand finish of the season that opened last Nov. 30.

Tuesday — NIT quarter-finals. New York: Miami vs. Providence and St. Louis vs. Marquette.

Thursday — NIT semifinals. Friday—NCAA semifinals. Louisville, Ky: Duke vs. Chicago Loyola and Cincinnati vs. Oregon State.

Saturday afternoon—NIT final and consolation for third place. Saturday night—NCAA final and consolation for third place.

Cincinnati, an easy winner over Colorado a year ago in the midwest regional, found the Buffs an inspired foe this time. Behind at one time by nine points, the Bearcats pulled up to 36-31 in the second half.

At this point All-America Ron Bonham, George Wilson and Tom Thacker took over. Bonham scored eight points and Wilson nine as Cincinnati grabbed a 48-42 lead. Thacker followed with 10 points and the Bearcats were out of danger at 60-52.

Heyman Held

Player of the Year Art Heyman made only three of 14 shots against St. Joseph's, but Jeff Mullins took up the slack for Duke with 24 points. One of Heyman's baskets was a key one, however, as it put the Blue Devils ahead for good early in the second half.

All-America Jerry Harkness went on a 33-point spree to spark Loyola in its rout of Illinois. The Big Ten co-champs stayed close at 40-34 before the Ramblers broke the game wide open and bolted to a 20-point lead at 58-38.

The tall Counts was just too much for fourth-ranked Arizona State. He led the Beavers with 26 points, controlled the backboards and blocked numerous Arizona State shots. In addition he held 6th Art Becker of the Sun Devils to 13 points. Terry Baker, of football fame aided Counts with sparkling floor play.

A three-point play by Wally Jones brought Villanova its surprise triumph over Wichita in the NITM. Wichita was ahead 53-51 with about a minute to play when Jones threw in the tying basket on a jump shot. He was fouled while shooting and calmly swished in the winning point from the charity line.

Lucious Jackson, a 6-9 junior who moves as fast as a little man, sparked Pan-American to its NAIA championship. He was named the tourney's most valuable player. Wayne Rasmussen of South Dakota State which beat Wittenberg 44-42 in the NCAA small college championship Friday night, won the most valuable player award for the tourney at Evansville, Ind.

Cousy Farewell Long And Loud

BOSTON (AP)—Bob Cousy, basketball's man with frozen features and burning drive, fought back tears Sunday as Boston paid him the most boisterous, gift-laden goodbye accorded an athlete in its history.

From an automobile and a message from President Kennedy to a token from 12-year-old cystic fibrosis girl Martha Grady, the presents and accolades were showered on the Boston Celtics star as volley after volley of ear-splitting applause rocked Boston Garden.

Many times the slender frame which had twisted through opponents to score was visibly shaken by emotion.

Weeps And Waves

For nearly an hour, Cousy stood with his wife Marie and two daughters from Worcester and his parents from St. Albans, N.Y. Alternately he wiped his eyes, wrung his hands, fidgeted, bowed his head, shuffled his feet and waved to the crowd.

With only the playoffs between the 34-year-old Cousy and his announced retirement, he was hailed as pro basketball's greatest figure prior to his last regular season National Basketball Association game against Syracuse.

Boston won 125-16.

On this St. Patrick's Day, the son of an immigrant Frenchman struggled for words of gratitude and sniffled between halting phrases.

Coach Red Auerbach read a message from President Kennedy which praised Cousy's performances and his "rare skill and competitive daring."

"I know you will set the same high standards as a coach that you have as a player," the President's message said. "It is a pleasure for me to join the sports world in this tribute to you."

Coach Comments

Auerbach then added: "I know you people are here and sorry to see him go, but how do you think I feel?"

Cousy thanked each of the groups which had given him gifts, topped by his general thanks to the fans. In his slow remarks, he said: "I've been asked many times what I'd miss most about playing."

"That's easy. The feelings I have leaving Red, trainer Buddy Laroux and my teammates cannot be recorded on paper or in words. I'll miss no longer sharing the spirit do corps I've had as captain of this team."

Easy Way to Help Communism Win

Just sit and do nothing

Or—you can stand up and be counted. Get into the fight as thousands of private American citizens already have.

You can help—by supporting one of our major weapons in the cold war... Radio Free Europe. Its daily news and commentary broadcasts to captive peoples. Radio Free Europe's 28 powerful transmitters send messages of truth and hope... messages that smash Red lies.

Radio Free Europe is supported by private contributions. It is being hard at Communism's soft underbelly.

It needs your help to hit harder still. Give now as much as you can. Don't ever let anyone say, "He sat by and did nothing."

News Interpretive:

Red China Presses Hard For End Of Khrushchev

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Mao Tze-tung's price for peace between Red China and the Soviet Union Communist party appears to be the complete surrender by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The exchange of Moscow-Peking letters on the need to patch up differences, therefore, seems likely to accomplish little unless Khrushchev is forced by desperation—or by his own party—to make the attempt.

Red China's response to a Soviet Communist initiative to end their costly word battle has the sound of a studied affront to the Kremlin leader. The text gives the reader an impression that Mao feels he has Khrushchev on the defensive.

Want Meeting

Obviously eager to remove the wrangle from public view, the Russians took the first step toward a Chinese-Soviet meeting. Their letter was dated Feb. 21.

The Chinese waited until March 9 to reply.

In the interim the Red Chinese mounted a massive and violent propaganda offensive to place their case before the world Communist movement. The effort included a 400,000-word article in Red Flag, the Chinese theoretical journal, implying Khrushchev was a traitor to Leninism and hinting broadly that he might come to an unpleasant end.

Only after getting this off their chests did the Red Chinese reply formally to the politely worded Soviet bid for peace. The reply was condescending, almost to the point of insult.

Leaders Must Meet

The chances are that some sort of Chinese-Soviet Communist meeting is in the works at Central Committee level. But little can be done without a face-to-face meeting of Mao and Khrushchev.

If the Soviet leader accepted on terms laid down in the Chinese letter, it would indicate more Khrushchev desperation than the outside world has suspected. Barring more dickering on terms, Mao's price seems too high. Mao suggested that Khrushchev might stop off in Peking during his scheduled spring state visit to Cambodia in Indochina. But there was no suggestion that Mao was willing to go to Moscow. Khrushchev purports to be the top man of world communism, and would bridge at being the supplicant, going to Peking with hat in hand.

Switching U. S. Bonds

By William A. Doyle

Q. I have $5,500 of Series E, U.S. Savings Bonds, which I bought in the early 1940s. These bonds, I believe, are building up interest at about 2½ percent a year. I would like to turn them in for bonds paying a higher rate of interest. When I asked about this at the bank, I was informed that I would lose several hundred dollars in the transfer. Is this true? The man at the bank did not seem to be interested.

A. No, what that "man at the bank" told you is simply not true. Letters such as yours come in frequently. And they prove that some people don't know what they are talking about.

The U.S. Treasury Department sends out all kinds of literature about U.S. Savings bonds to banks, etc. But it seems that some people who receive that literature don't read it.

You can exchange your Series E bonds for Series H bonds without losing anything.

The point is that you must exchange the E bonds for H bonds. You don't redeem your E bonds for cash and use that money to buy H bonds. You exchange one for the other. If you cash your E bonds, the interest that has built up on those bonds would then be subject to income taxes. But by making the exchange, you postpone that tax liability until you redeem the H bonds.

And, assuming that you don't ever redeem any of the H bonds, you can put off that payment of income taxes as long as you like. And there is other good news for you. Your E bonds undoubtedly are worth a good deal more than you realize. E bonds purchased in the early 1940s built up (accrued) interest at the rate of 2.9 percent a year, if held to maturity — 10 years later.

But the maturity periods have been extended and the interest rates have been increased a number of times. Your E bonds are now accruing interest at the rate of 3½ percent a year.

You can't collect E bond interest until you cash those bonds. But, if you exchange E bonds for H bonds, you receive interest checks twice a year. H bonds now pay interest at the annual rate of 3½ percent a year, if held to maturity.

People in your situation are the ones who should consider exchanging E bonds for H bonds.

You will start receiving interest checks. And they should be welcome. The interest you receive on H bonds is ordinary income and taxable as such. But, in your income situation, it seems unlikely that your total income would be increased to the point where you

Excise Tax Deposits Due April 1

MANUFACTURERS, retailers, and others, were advised by Internal Revenue District Director Ellis R. Rogers in Scranton, that those liable for more than $100 of excise taxes in February must deposit such taxes at a depository. They must use a Form 537 for this purpose and make this deposit no later than April 1, 1963.

Deposits may be made in local authorized banks or at a Federal Reserve Bank.

Information regarding requirements for tax depositaries may be obtained by contacting any local Internal Revenue Service Office.

Selective Service Tests Due

SELECTIVE Service College Qualification Tests will be given on April 18 at more than 500 examination centers, Mrs. Boulah S. McConnell, clerk, Local Board 103, Stroudsburg, said last night.

Registrants who are college students, should be interested in the test, which provides evidence for the use of local boards in considering deferment for a student.

Application blanks and additional information can be obtained at the local board, on the second floor of the Stroudsburg Post Office.

Mrs. McConnell added, "Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight March 28, 1963."
